ARMED FORCES AND VETERAN PA SCHOLARSHIPS

AIR FORCE HEALTH PROFESSIONS SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

ABOUT: Physician's Assistants are an in-demand and highly respected career within the Air Force. Active-duty Airmen can apply to the Physician Assistant Training program. The qualified individuals accepted into the program will receive the advanced training they need to provide expert medical care to military personnel and their families.

Application Link: <https://www.airforce.com/education/ongoing-education>

Eligibility Requirements:

- Applicants must be accepted to or enrolled in a medical school accredited by either the Association of American Medical Colleges (MD schools) or American Osteopathic Association (DO schools) located within the continental U.S., Hawaii, Alaska, or Puerto Rico.
- Applicants must be U.S. citizens.
- Applicants must be physically qualified for commissioning as an Air Force officer.

Award Amount:

- Students receive full tuition and all required fees at the accredited U.S. medical school of their choice located within the continental U.S., Hawaii, Alaska, or Puerto Rico
- Books and most other educational fees are also covered under the HPSP scholarship
- An annual salary of $34,000 which includes monthly stipend of $2,728.00/month for 10 ½ months
- Second Lieutenant military and travel pay for the remaining 45 days, during their active-duty tour
- There is a $20,000 signing bonus for students who receive a four (4) year AF HPSP scholarship, similar to the Army and Navy program. Likewise, three (3) year scholarship participants can receive the signing bonus if they agree to a four (4) year commitment.

Application Information: For four (4) year scholarships, the best time to apply is early fall of the year prior to attending medical school. Students already in medical school applying for three (3) year scholarships should apply immediately. Scholarships are awarded on a rolling basis; early application maximizes opportunity for selection.

ARMY HEALTH PROFESSIONS SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

ABOUT: Army health professions scholarship program (HPSP) is one of the most comprehensive scholarships available in the health care field, covering your full tuition for an advanced medical degree while also providing you with a monthly stipend. The program will help you graduate with a secure career in a medical profession, without the burden of a big financial debt. These benefits are offered in exchange for your commitment to serve on the Army Medical team, where you'll support the wellbeing of America's Army, at home and abroad.

CAPA RUTH WEBB AWARD

ABOUT: Ruth Webb was a pioneer of her time, being the first female, African American PA Program Director in 1981. In addition to her love of educating future PAs, Webb was a vocal advocate of the profession, serving in numerous organizations to advance PAs everywhere. At the local level, she was a founding member of the LA County Joint Practice Advisory Council on NPs and PAs. Her work attracted the recognition of then California governor, Jerry Brown, who appointed her Vice Chair to the Board of Medical Quality Assurance (now the Medical Board of California). But she did not stop at her home state. Her efforts to bring diversity to the whole of the profession culminated in her leadership role as Secretary/Treasurer of the AAPA Minority Affairs Committee. Through the end of her professional days, she continued to work tirelessly to enhance recognition of the King/Drew Medical Center (now Martin Luther King, Jr., Outpatient Center) and the PA profession.

EVA DIMITROV, MD & PAHPM STUDENT SCHOLARSHIP

ABOUT: The Physician Associates in Hospice and Palliative Medicine (PAHPM), a constituent organization of the AAPA, offers scholarship grants to currently enrolled PA students. This scholarship was created to honor the memory of Eva Dimitrov and her journey through serious-illness and her discovery of how meaningful of a role those who cared for her, her family and caregivers can play. This scholarship aims to help train future 'caregiver' PAs with those very intentions. The hope is that for those PA students who are ready to go that extra step in stepping themselves in serious-illness care, can have the right resources and tools to learn what it means to palliate from the very beginning of dis-ease. Our hope is to provide just a glimmer of hope to be honest, caring, and a guide for those patients, families and caregivers suffering from serious-ill and/or terminal illness.

UNIVERSITY OF THE PACIFIC
Physician Assistant Program

Application Link: <https://pahpm.org/Student-Scholarship-Application-&-Information>

- Applicant Resume/CV
- A letter of recommendation from a professor or a clinical supervisor is also required. It should include how they know and have interacted with you, and they should be aware of the program's clinical sites your interest in caring for those with serious and terminal illnesses. Their letter should comment on why the student should be considered for the scholarship, their maturity/emotional level, and ability to work with others on a team if observed.
- Personal statement - Please include a 750 word or less typed-personal statement on a separate page. Your statement should include personal background, pertinent experiences and/or interests in working with patients, families, and caregivers experiencing serious illness and/or terminal illness. State your future goals and expectations upon completing your PA program studies, and why you feel you should be considered for a PAHPM student scholarship grant.

NOTE: Suggestions for discussion could include:

- What does holistic care mean to you? How will you, as a PA, strive to incorporate this approach into a potential rotation, should you be selected?
- Share an experience in which you observed or facilitated conversations around palliative care and quality of life. What did you take from the experience and how can you incorporate that into your practice? How would you approach those discussions and prepare if this is the first time the conversation is occurring with a particular patient and family.

UNIVERSITY OF THE PACIFIC Physician Assistant Program

The James Montag, Jr. Scholarship - This scholarship is presented by PA James Montag, Jr., honoring those PA students who have given military service to our country. Jim graduated from the University of California-Davis in 1995 with a dual PA/NP degree. He practiced for many years in cardiovascular surgery and currently practices in primary care at the clinic he owns in Jonesborough, Tenn. Jim is a military veteran who served in the United States Air Force, including in the 1st Special Operations Squadron (MAC) Clark Air Base. He has been involved in TAPA leadership, serving as TAPA's Tri-Cities Region Director from 2005-2009, and he served on the Committee on Physician Assistants (predecessor to the Board of PAs) from 2008-2016. Jim is a Distinguished Fellow of the AAPA and is a life member of the AAPA Veterans Caucus. Scholarship applicants must have military experience.

The J.C Carey Memorial Scholarship - This scholarship is given in memory of PA J.C. Carey. He was much loved by his friends and PA colleagues for his strength of character, clinical competence, and endless compassion. He provided tirelessly for the medical and mental health needs of his rural community, and he believed in truly being a part of the community and knowing his patients on a personal level. He passed that knowledge on to his students by presenting real life situations that the student could confront in the safety of the classroom with his guidance and sense of humor leading the way. J.C. was an institution in TAPA and the PA profession. He sat in his same seat at every conference, worked to gain prescriptive privileges for PAs in Tennessee, and showed the world what a PA should and could be.

The Presley Memorial Scholarship - This scholarship is in memory of Linda Presley, mother of PA Johnny Presley and the many other PA students that she touched. She opened her home to PA students to not only make them feel like they were at home, but a true part of the family. She often feed students dinner and took them to church with her. She not only raised a PA in her son Johnny, but she was a mother to all PA students who were lucky enough to call her mom. Each year, two PA students will receive a $1,000 scholarship in the name and memory of Linda Presley "PA MOM". Priority is given to those students planning to practice in rural health.

PALH/ LBGTQ+ PA STUDENT LEADER FELLOWSHIP

ABOUT: The purpose of the fellowship is for leaders in medicine to reflect the communities we serve. When the first few cohorts of the LBGT PA Caucus Student Leaders Fellowship were each appointed or elected to serve in a board leadership role within 3 years of graduation, we realized the fellowship's potential, as well as it's gaps - few alumni identified with Latino/a/x or Hispanic heritage. The jointly sponsored fellowship program was piloted in 2020 in the hopes that, together, we can support PA students who identify as Latino/a/x or of Hispanic heritage, as well as LBGT, and who desire service through leadership.

Application Link: <https://palh.mypanetwork.com/page/990-palh-lbgt-pa-student-leader-fellowship>

Eligibility Requirements:

- Applicants must be openly lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and/or gender diverse student members of the LBGT PA Caucus who also identify as Latino/a/x or of Hispanic heritage. Student membership with PAs for Latino Health (PALH) is encouraged. Applicants must be currently enrolled in an accredited PA program at the time of the application deadline. Priority is given to student members who are actively involved with the Caucuses.
- Those selected for the fellowship are required to maintain active membership with AAPA, the LBGT PA Caucus, and PALH.
- Selection criteria include, but are not limited to emotional intelligence, interpersonal skills, judgement, integrity, character (collaborative, courage, humility), attitudes and beliefs about intersectionality involving sexual orientation and gender identity/expression (SOGIE), racial, ethnic, and other identities.
- Fellows are chosen through a competitive selection process that considers an essay and a personal interview. Letters of recommendation from faculty are optional.
- As long as the selection criteria is met, students may apply for more than one student leader fellowship, although no student may have more than one fellowship.

Award Amount: Varies with a $1000.00 travel stipend for annual conferences

Cycle Deadline: March 15th

Application Information:

  - ✓ Tell us how you have personally dealt with intolerance or discrimination towards you, or a friend based on sexual orientation, gender identity and/or expression, and/or racial or ethnic identity. Are you satisfied with how you handled it, and if not, how might you have responded differently?
  - ✓ Address any issues which arose prior to or after enrollment in PA school that make you want to serve in leadership as a practicing PA.
  - ✓ Tell us what you hope to achieve through your involvement with this Student Leader Fellowship.
  - ✓ Tell us how you propose to contribute to achieving the mission & vision of the Caucuses as a graduate PA leader.
  - ✓ Discuss your professional goals as a graduate PA leader and how they relate to your experience as a lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and/or non-binary person of Latino/a/x or Hispanic heritage.
  - ✓ Tell us about your financial need for this award, if any.
- Participate in an online interview.
- Letter of recommendation from faculty is OPTIONAL.

SCHOLARSHIP RESOURCES

There are free scholarship search platforms that connects students to thousands of possible scholarships, sweepstakes, grants, and internships available throughout the United States. Additionally, some platforms will automatically renew applicable scholarships and allow you to apply to multiple at the same time. Check out the list below (From Forbes Advisor)

Scholarships.com: divides scholarships by a variety of unique categories, including GPA, military affiliation, ethnicity, artistic ability, ACT or SAT score and residing state. When you select one of these categories, you'll likely see a large list of subcategories, where you can then view all eligible scholarships. This system helps students find niche awards with smaller applicant pools that they're more likely to win.

Fastweb.com: aggregates awards from both large and small directories. You have to make a profile to search for scholarships, which is similar to other sites. After the initial sign-up process, you can easily search for scholarships and filter your results based on several data points. Fastweb will also notify you when a new scholarship matching your description is posted and when you have upcoming deadlines.

CollegeBoard.org: You're probably familiar with the College Board if you've taken the SAT, AP tests or other college entry exams. The College Board can help you after you've been accepted into a school. After you create an account, you can filter awards by your interests, field of study, club affiliations or specific situations, like if your parents are divorced. College Board will also automatically match you with eligible scholarships based on the information in your profile. There is also an autofill function, which allows you to reuse information from other scholarship applications, saving you time and helping you apply for more awards.

GoingMerry.com: Applying to scholarships can feel repetitive; that's why Going Merry lets students type in information once and apply for multiple scholarships at the same time. If you're in a time crunch, look for awards on Going Merry before checking out the other major sites. The site also prides itself on including local awards, which are less competitive and may be easier to win than big national scholarships.

ScholarshipOwl.com: is a popular scholarship website that compiles awards and organizes them by amount, types of requirements, number of winners and length of time until the application is due. ScholarshipOwl will automatically resubmit your application to recurring scholarships that don't require anything beyond your basic information. This leaves you more time to focus on awards that require essays and recommendation letters.

Bold.org: While many scholarship sites are difficult to navigate, Bold.org has one of the cleanest interfaces. It's easy to search and find different scholarships you may be eligible for and you can filter by your education level, award category, award amount and deadline. You can even toggle on the "no-essay" button to find scholarships that don't require a written essay.

Appily.com: claims to be the biggest online scholarship database, so it could pay to check the site for possible leads. Like other sites, you have to create an account to see all the scholarships you might qualify for. Their filter system lets you sort awards by year in school, scholarship amount, gender, ethnicity and award deadline. You can also search for renewable scholarships, which offer college funding for multiple years.

MyScholly.com: When you fill out a profile on Scholly, their algorithm will comb through available scholarships and create a list of eligible awards. Each scholarship will have a Scholly score, which ranks how good of a fit it is for your background and experience. The higher the Scholly score, the stronger match you are with the scholarship's requirements.
