

Doctor of Physical Therapy

Success-Centered | Leadership-Focused | A Powerful Network

Become a physical therapist and join a profession that helps people live better lives by improving their ability to move.

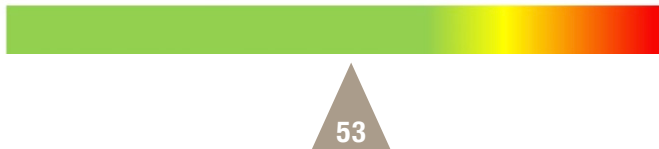

Choosing a university for your doctor of physical therapy (DPT) education is one of the most important and significant financial investments you'll make in your life. At Pacific, we take the issue of cost seriously. Compared to other DPT programs located in California, the cost of tuition at Pacific ranks in the 88 percentile.

Our location and concise program provides cost-savings advantages that add value to your DPT education.

Percentile Rank of Overall Cost of Attendance

Pacific DPT program compared to other California DPT programs

California Residents

Nonresidents

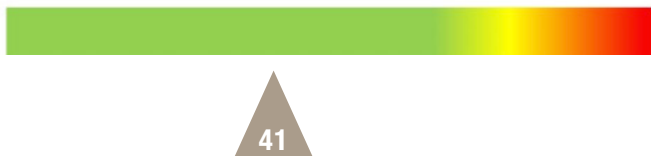

Our concise curriculum also lowers projected monthly payments compared to other programs, because your student loans spend less time accruing interest while you're still sitting in a classroom.

Percentile Rank of Projected Monthly Student Loan Payments

Pacific DPT program compared to other California DPT programs

California Residents

Nonresidents

25 Months

36 Students

8:1 Faculty to student ratio

797 Physical therapy alumni and counting

Our 36-student cohorts have a close-knit atmosphere that will support you while preparing you for a fast-paced and fulfilling career – just ask our alumni!

Internships

Clinical Experience rotation sites used per class 36

Total number of Clinical Experience hours 160

Rotation sites for Clinical Internship I, II and III 105

Total number of Clinical Internship hours 1,360

Student Outcomes

3-Year Average for Graduating Cohort Years 2015, 2016, 2017

Learn More

pacific.edu/dpt

Have questions? We're here to help!

Contact us at pshsrecruiting@pacific.edu or 209.946.3957.